

Randy Pokrant
Business Development Manager
ProTELEC Security + Safety Ltd. (CheckMate Safety Division)

Randy's experience goes back to his school years working in ProTELEC's Emergency Monitoring Centre in the late 1980's. He then spent nearly 30 years working in the manufacturing and construction industries in several roles that included providing direct client support, to project and people management. During these years, Randy observed many changes to Health and Safety regulations and practices across Canada. He's seen firsthand the unfortunate consequences of inadequate employee H&S and has observed the positive impact a comprehensive Safety Management System can have on an organization. Which should always include the element of Lone Worker safety.

In recent years, Randy has helped many employers in a variety of industries ensure their Lone Workers are fully protected with the implementation of the CheckMate Working Alone safety monitoring system. More recently Randy is focused on providing education and developing safety partnerships to help inform employers of the requirements and start the discussion on how best to manage this common hazard.

Randy is looking forward to sharing his experiences and knowledge of best practices in safety with the members of IPAM specifically in the area of Working Alone, and to having further discussions with you in the future.
