

Bio - Jamie Jurczak

Experienced in all facets of management-side labour and employment law, and an experienced civil litigator, Jamie's practice has a special focus on occupational health and safety (OHS) matters. Alongside her OHS work, Jamie's practice incorporates all aspects of labour and employment law to help clients and businesses navigate complex personnel matters, and workplace conflicts and disputes, including human rights complaints, wrongful dismissals, and grievance and interest arbitration.

She is well versed in helping organizations respond to serious workplace accidents, addressing administrative appeals, defending employers charged under provincial and federal occupational health and safety legislation, and policy development. Additionally, she has experience assisting employers with a variety of workplace harassment (including sexual harassment) and violence situations, as well as independent workplace investigations. She is recognized as a leading practitioner in OHS (since 2014) and Workplace Human Rights (since 2018) by the Canadian Legal Lexpert® Directory.

Jamie is also a small business owner, as co-director of Maples Academy of Dance, where she continues to actively teach. She also enjoys participating in the annual Royal Manitoba Theatre Centre/Manitoba Bar Association joint productions, having performed in 8 productions.
